

Terms of Service

Trias Revolution LLC

Effective Date: May 7, 2026

Please read these Terms of Service carefully. By using Trias Revolution LLC services, purchasing an offer, booking an appointment, downloading a resource, or using our website, you agree to these terms.

1. Business Overview

Trias Revolution LLC provides integrative wellness and life coaching services, workshops, digital educational resources, and administrative document preparation or compliance support services.

Our services may be offered through the Trias Coaching branch, Trias DocuServ branch, or other Trias Revolution LLC service offerings. Services may be delivered online, by phone, by video call, by email, through downloadable digital materials, or in person when applicable.

2. Scope of Services

Trias Revolution LLC may offer private coaching sessions, coaching packages, group programs, workshops, educational materials, digital workbooks, downloadable resources, document preparation support, annual filing support, compliance tracking, recertification support, and related administrative business services.

Coaching services are designed to support personal growth, goal setting, mindset support, values-based living, communication skills, life balance, emotional wellness, and holistic well-being.

Business support services are administrative in nature and may include document creation, document organization, compliance reminders, annual filing support, and related business support tasks.

3. Important Service Limitations

Trias Revolution LLC does not provide legal, medical, financial, tax, or therapeutic treatment services. Coaching, education, and administrative support are not substitutes for professional advice or care from a licensed attorney, physician, therapist, accountant, financial advisor, or other qualified professional.

Any information provided by Trias Revolution LLC is for educational, coaching, administrative, or general business support purposes only. Clients are responsible for seeking appropriate licensed professional guidance when needed.

4. Eligibility and Client Responsibility

By using our services, you confirm that you are at least 18 years old or have appropriate parent, guardian, or authorized adult consent if services involve a minor.

You agree to provide accurate information, communicate respectfully, complete any required intake forms or agreements, and participate in services in good faith.

You are responsible for your own decisions, actions, results, business filings, personal growth, and follow-through. Coaching and support can provide guidance, tools, and accountability, but outcomes are not guaranteed.

5. Booking, Scheduling, and Attendance

Appointments, consultations, coaching sessions, workshops, and service calls may be scheduled through the business website, scheduling software, direct communication, or another approved booking method.

Clients are responsible for attending scheduled appointments on time. If you need to reschedule, please provide notice as early as possible. Specific rescheduling, cancellation, late arrival, or no-show policies may be included in your service agreement, checkout page, invoice, or booking confirmation.

Trias Revolution LLC reserves the right to reschedule a session or service appointment due to illness, emergency, scheduling conflict, technology issue, or other reasonable business need.

6. Payments and Billing

Customers may be charged through Stripe or another approved payment processor for individual sessions, coaching packages, workshops, group programs, digital resources, and service-based business support offerings.

Prices may vary by offer and may be charged as one-time payments, package payments, recurring payments, payment plans, annual fees, or custom service invoices.

By purchasing a service or product, you authorize Trias Revolution LLC and its payment processor to charge your selected payment method according to the terms presented at checkout, on your invoice, in your signed agreement, or in your payment plan.

7. Refunds, Cancellations, and Payment Plans

Refund eligibility depends on the specific service, package, workshop, digital resource, or agreement purchased. Because coaching, consulting, administrative services, and digital products require reserved time, preparation, and/or immediate access, all sales may be final unless otherwise stated in writing.

If a payment plan is approved, you are responsible for completing all scheduled payments unless a written cancellation or modification is approved by Trias Revolution LLC.

Digital products, downloadable resources, completed services, missed appointments, and work already performed are generally not refundable unless otherwise required by law or stated in a separate written agreement.

8. Digital Products and Educational Resources

Digital workbooks, downloads, templates, worksheets, educational resources, and similar materials are provided for personal or internal business use only unless written permission is granted.

You may not copy, reproduce, resell, distribute, publish, or share Trias Revolution LLC materials as your own content or use them to create competing products or services.

9. Business Support and Document Services

Trias Revolution LLC may assist with administrative document preparation, document organization, annual filing support, compliance tracking, and similar business support services.

Clients are responsible for reviewing all documents and confirming accuracy before signing, submitting, filing, or relying on them. Trias Revolution LLC does not guarantee approval, acceptance, legal compliance, tax outcomes, government processing times, or business results.

When legal, tax, financial, or regulatory advice is needed, clients should consult the appropriate licensed professional.

10. Confidentiality and Privacy

Trias Revolution LLC treats client information with care and respect. Personal information is handled according to our Privacy Policy.

Confidentiality may be limited when disclosure is required by law, court order, payment dispute, fraud prevention, safety concern, business protection need, or another lawful reason.

12. Acceptable Use

You agree not to misuse our website, services, resources, platforms, or communication channels. This includes harassment, fraud, unauthorized sharing, copying materials, attempting to access restricted systems, submitting false information, or using our services for unlawful purposes.

13. No Guarantees

Trias Revolution LLC may provide coaching, education, strategy, support, tools, and accountability, but we do not guarantee specific personal, emotional, financial, business, legal, health, or life outcomes.

Results vary based on individual circumstances, personal responsibility, implementation, timing, outside factors, and the client's own choices.

14. Limitation of Liability
